1. Security Fee. A fee may be assessed to cover the costs of providing, staffing, servicing, and maintaining magnetic, electronic, or other security devices, and such other costs associated with or incidental to providing a court security system for the benefit of employees and the public. The security fee shall not exceed five percent of the base fine or civil sanction imposed by the court.

The resource protection fee shall be in an amount of not more than actual costs involved, not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) per event, and may be assessed against litigants and/or their attorneys, but shall not be assessed against the state or any attorney appearing on behalf of the state. This fee shall not exceed actual costs involved and is intended to include, without limitation, the following:
 - a. In the case of a plea to the court on the day of a scheduled jury trial, the fees may include all jury related costs including but not limited to (i) fees paid to jurors who actually appeared for the jury trial, and (ii) mailing costs incurred by the court to summon the jurors for that trial;
 - b. In the case of a plea to the court on the calendar call day which falls within the week of the scheduled jury trial, the fees shall be limited to the actual cost of the court to summon the jurors for that case.
